CARDS FINISH FINAL EASTERN JAUNT BY COPPING TWIN BILL

Cubs Drop Giants Twice After Hornsby Clouts Pinch Homer in Ninth.

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hornsbury bound today after having completed their last triumph tour of the Atlantic seaboard, the St. Louis Cardinals were in position to concentrate on getting themselves in prime condition for their October skirmish with the Philadelphia Athletics.

By sweeping their closing doubleheader with the Boston Braves yesterday, the Cardinals closed their eastern invasion with a record of 13 victories in 17 starts. They are returning to their home back yard with a lead of 10 full games over the field, and intent to permit them to coast through the final month.

Two veterans of the Birds' pitching staff completed the sweep of the five-game series at Boston yesterday. Jim Haines kept ten hits scattered to win the first 6 to 1, and Burleigh Grimes taking the nightcap, 6 to 4, when his mates overcame an early Braves lead with a four-run rally in the sixth.

Thanks to some lusty hitting by Haines Cuyler and Manager Hornsbury, the Chicago Cubs were able to close their eastern jaunt with a pair of victories over the Giants.

The Phillies showed Dan Howley's Cincinnati Reds a little deeper into the cellar with a pair of beatings, 3 to 4 and 7 to 6. They had to score four times in the sixth inning to win the nightcap, Dick Bartens' double with two out and the bases loaded supplying the climax.

Although they dropped the final to St. Louis, 8 to 6, the Athletics showed a nice profit for their last western tour, winning 10 and losing only four. They were back east today with a 14th game lead over their closest American league rivals, the Washington Senators.

The Browns jumped on Rube Walberg and George Barnshaw for six runs to give the Athletics a parting show.

Roy Johnson's homerun in the eighth was the punch the Detroit Tigers needed to nose out the Senators, 5 to 4, in their last meeting of the year.

After losing 10 straight to the New York Yankees at Comiskey park this year, the Chicago White Sox finally broke through to win their closing tilt 5 to 3.

Boston's scheduled doubleheader at Cleveland was rained out.

COLUMBUS SOUTH IS BOOKED FOR OPENER

N. C. O. League Competition Gets Under Way at Ashland on Oct. 10.

Harding High school's warriors of the gridiron will not be called upon to face such a "suicide" football schedule this fall as the one which confronted the team last season. Nine games, instead of 10 of last year, are on the schedule and these nine are not all as tough as the majority of the 1930 opponents. The season will be opened with Columbus South at Marion, Oct. 10, and will close Nov. 21, when Harding travels to Gallon to do battle with the Orangemen in an N. C. O. league contest.

The schedule:
Sept. 25: Delaware South at Columbus.
Oct. 3: Delaware at Marion.
Oct. 10: Ashland at Ashland.
Oct. 17: Findlay at Findlay.
Oct. 24: Haysville at Marion.
Oct. 31: Mansfield at Marion.
Nov. 7: Clinton at Marion.
Nov. 14: Shelby at Shelby.
Nov. 21: Gallon at Gallon.

As far as is known now there will be no night games on Harding's schedule this year. The Columbus South playing field is equipped for nocturnal competition but as yet no arrangements have been made for playing the game at night. It is possible that Fairground field will be lighted for Harding to play part of its home contests at night but there is nothing definite concerning this as yet.

SUN BEAU TO RUN

Champion Money Winner Entered in Lincoln Handicap Saturday

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Willie Sharpe Kilmer's sudden decision to send Sun Beau, the champion money-winning horse, after the $25,000 added Lincoln handicap at Lincoln fields Saturday was good news to Chicago racing fans and bad news to owners of other eligibles for the fat purse.

It had been expected that fifteen thoroughbreds would go to the post, but the decision to start stout-hearted son of Sun Briar-Bear to lead may reduce the field to ten or less.

Kilmer probably saw not only a good chance to add another big purse to Sun Beau's huge bankroll, but an opportunity to square up for Pucky Play's victory in the Hawthorne handicap. Sun Beau gave Pucky play 25 pounds in the Hawthorne event, but will be called upon to carry 125 pounds Saturday, to 114 for Pucky Play. Borgele and Paul Bunyan also will carry sizeable loads, the former drawing 115 and Paul Bunyan 111.

MRS. TYSON TO FACE NOTEWORTHY JINX IN WESTERN GOLF PLAY

Golf Title Defender Plays Opponent She Hasn't Beaten in 3 Years.

By The Associated Press
HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 27.—Mrs. George Tyson of Kansas City found herself face to face with her noteworthy golfing jinx today as she ventured out to protect her women's western championship.

Her foe as the battle entered the third round over the Exmoor Country club layout was none other than her famous home town rival, Mrs. Opal S. Hill whom she hasn't succeeded in defeating for three straight years.

The second match of the upper-play at shovel

The Little World's series for the recreation baseball championship of Marion county will be continued Saturday of this week on the Nos 1 and 2 diamonds of the Steam Shovel Athletic field. Waldo will play the winner of the Caledonia-Pleasant tie game of last Saturday, due for a play-off this week. Kirkpatrick, which lost to Waldo last Saturday will play the loser of the Caledonia-Pleasant fray.

The All-County day has been definitely set for Lincoln park on Sept. 6. Details of the athletic events for this affair will be released early next week.

Another Nightmarish
Unless an unusual number of capable men turn out for practice it is obvious that one of the same nightmares which worried Bohyer last year is going to be hanging around the camp of the Presidents through most of the coming season. That is the lack of capable reserves.

Followers of Harding are making a mistake if they are envisioning a possible championship for the Presidents this fall. It will take something akin to a miracle to develop a champion team out of the material at hand, unless pre-season invitational are all wrong. How there is no reason why Harding should founder through another season as last year. A 500 per cent average is about the best that can be hoped for. The Presidents shouldn't end the year with a multitude of good breaks to have them finish any higher than that.

SAINTS DROP SECOND IN ROW TO INDIANS

Ninth-Inning Rally Gives Tribe 8-5 Win; Birds Beat Brewers.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—About one more defeat and St. Paul fans will think their Saints have fallen into a serious losing streak.

The Saints yesterday lost their second straight game to Indianapolis, something they haven't done for any club since last June. It was another one of those Indian ninth innings that dropped the Saints yesterday, 8 to 5. Indianapolis was trailing 5 to 4, when the ninth started. Emmett McCash's men scored four runs to win.

Kansas City kept pace with Indianapolis in the battle for second place by slipping Toledo, 5 to 4. Lou Fette, Kansas City's starting pitcher doubled with the bases full in the fourth to give the Blues the lead, but was batted out of the box in the sixth. Max Thomas finished and held the brood serene.

Milwaukee errors helped Columbus to a 5 to 4 victory. The Brewers were charged with four misplays and the Red Birds took advantage to come from behind for the decision.

Louisville scored its third straight over Minneapolis, winning 6 to 5 in ten innings. Herman Layne's single in the tenth, his fourth hit of the game, drove Nechander over with the winning run.

Wild Bill Wins on Sixth Trip

William Anthony (Wild Bill) Hahn, lone left-hander of the Cardinals' pitching staff, made six separate and distinct trips to the team's spring training quarters before he "came up" to stay.

The shuttle process began in 1924, when Wild Bill was not quite 20 years old, and was almost interrupted by the season of 1926, which he spent with the Cards, mostly on the bench.

Scratches in the International and Houston in the Texas league had his services during part of his season. It was with the latter club that he found his control in 1928, winning 23 games and losing 12.

Next year he came to the Cards to stay.

Ultra-short radio waves, only one-tenth of a meter long, that a German scientist has developed, have been found to follow nearly all the laws of light rays.

CRACKS 200 PIGEONS FOR PERFECT SCORE IN AMATEUR EVENT

By The Associated Press
VANDALIA, O., Aug. 27.—Steve M. Crowthers of Chestnut Hills Pa., stood today as champion of amateur trapshooting champions.

The Pennsylvania amateur today gave a display of perfect marksmanship yesterday to defeat champions from 41 states, the Canal zone and Alberta, Canada. In the day's feature shoot of the third annual Grand American trapshooting tournament.

Crowther broke 200 consecutive pigeons, duplicating his feat in winning the Pennsylvania crown. He succeeded E. F. Woodward of Houston, Tex., to the title. Ted Ream of Del. Mont. was second, and Joe Heistand of Hillsboro, O., third.

Earl Donahue, Minneapolis professional, claimed the professional championship after winning a shoot-off from Russ Raze of Denver. Tying Raze at 199 out of a possible 200 targets, Donahue was off 23 more to win after the Denver professional had missed his 23rd from a difficult angle.

The shooting eye of J. S. Thomas of Pleasant Hill, Mo., despite his 71 years, was still keen enough to enable him to crack 180 out of a possible 200 targets for the veteran championship about for marksman over 70. He edged out George Tucker, 71, of Gilmer, Tex., who broke 178 targets. Third place went to J. Painter, Jr., 51, oldest shooter at the tournament, who scored 169.

PATTERN 2181
A yoke is often used to lend character to an entire frock in the new fashions. This model is extremely simple to make yet it has unmistakable chic because of the yoke that forms a deep point in the back, passes over the shoulders suggesting tiny cap sleeves, and crosses in front, giving a smart diagonal line to the bodice.

Secretary of State Threatens Ouster of Cuyahoga County Election Board.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 23—Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown today had stepped into a Cuyahoga county board of elections party fight with the warning either to settle their dispute over selection of ward officials by Sept. 1, or be prepared to give way to a new board.

Democratic and Republican members of the board have been engaged in recent days in bawling opposite party election officials from the twelfth and twenty-third wards.

In a stormy conference last night, Brown told them to settle the dispute by next Tuesday, if by that time, he declared, enough officials have not been named to man election booths, he would take it upon himself to name them or remove the present board and appoint a new one.

Bucyrus Home Is Scene of Reception and Wedding Dinner.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR
BUCYRUS, Aug. 23—Rev. G. M. Morhoff, pastor of Crestline German Lutheran church, performed the single ring service uniting in marriage this afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Zella Emma Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson of 681 North Lane street, this city, and Harold Dillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dillman of Crestline. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Souder, sister and brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride was lovely in an ankle-length beige model of Alice blue chiffon, lace trimmed. She wore a hat, gloves and shoes of old ivory. Her arm bouquet was fashioned of Johanna Hill roses and gypsophylla. Her sister wore black chiffon velvet and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to the members of the immediate families at the home of the bride. The bride table was centered with a wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and groom. The bride's colors of silver blue and old rose were carried out in the tapers and table appointments.

The bride and bridegroom will leave this evening on a motor tour to Niagara Falls and other eastern points. Upon their return they will be at home in their newly-furnished home at 321 Pearl street, in Crestline.

Police Seek Al Capone as Kidnapers Free Turfman

"Jack" Lynch, Turned Loose in Illinois City, Returns to Home; Surprised at Reports of Huge Ransom Asked for Release.

By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, Aug. 23—John J. "Jack" Lynch, wealthy turfman who was reported to be kidnaped last Thursday, returned to his home in Lake Geneva, Wis., early today in his own car and unharmed.

Lynch said he was released last night by his captors on a street in Kankakee, Ill. After waiting five minutes at his captors' orders, he took off his blindfold and started his car toward Chicago where he picked up a friend and drove on to Lake Geneva.

He denied that any money had been paid for ransom, nor that any had been promised. In fact, he admitted surprise when he was told that $250,000 had been demanded for his release.

"Nothing was ever said to me during the time I was held," he said, "about my business, or any ransom. I cannot understand this."

Lynch said his captors treated him like "an old friend."

After forcing him into their car along the Wisconsin highway, he said, they blindfolded him and drove about for about two hours.

"The next thing I knew was that we were in a house somewhere, and I had a nice soft bed to sleep on," he continued. "They gave me plenty of good food, but kept me blindfolded or wearing heavy colored glasses continuously."

Last night he said, they took him from the house, drove about for an hour or so, then put him into his own car, and turned him free.

He did not give the name of the friend with whom he drove to Lake Geneva from Chicago. He steadfastly maintained that he had heard nothing of the ransom demands until he was informed of them by reporters.

Orders Capone Arrested

Alphonse Capone listed as "Public Enemy No. 1" by the Chicago crime commission, is being sought in connection with the kidnaping of Lynch.

Patrick J. Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, telephoned the order for Capone's arrest from Lake Geneva, where he has been making an investigation of the Lynch case, saying the gang chief was suspected of a direct connection with negotiations for Lynch's release. Capone is reported to have agreed to pay off the abductors with $50,000 raised by the missing man's friends.

Roche said if Capone refused to name the persons to whom the ransom was paid he could be prosecuted as an accessory.

A squad of police hurried to the hotel where Capone maintains headquarters last night, but were unable to find the gang chief. The possibility that Capone might be extradited to Wisconsin in connection with the case was discussed by Wisconsin officials.

The $50,000 reported raised by Lynch's friends was reported in police circles to represent a compromise with the abductors whose original demands, sent last week by telephone to Lynch's relatives, were for $250,000. They threatened to slay Lynch unless the money was paid.

The nominating committee for election of officers is composed of Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Miss In Thompson and Mrs. Joseph Bolsh; entertaining committee, Mrs. H. C. McGinnis, Mrs. C. D. Houser, Mrs. Gerber Kuenst, Mrs. F. E. McKinley, and Mrs. E. R. Kinley; committee on refreshments, Mrs. A. D. Mawer, Mrs. Ed. Mosberger, Mrs. B. C. Harman, Mrs. Thomas McEldowney and Mrs. Urban McBeth.

An amplifying device has been loaned to help persons with impaired hearing to receive their messages.

Election Costs too High Ohio Institute Reports

Average Cost in State 91 Cents a Vote; Advocates Drastic Changes and Cuts To Bring Down Cost to Taxpayers.

From Columbus comes announcement of a statement by the Ohio Institute, a governmental research organization, that Ohio election costs are excessive and can be greatly reduced without interfering with the conduct of elections. In 1929, $2,225,000 was spent for elections in the state as a whole, according to the statement.

Excluding expenditures for new equipment, elections cost an average of 91 cents for every vote cast in the state in 1929. In the eight large urban counties, expenditures ranged from $1.61 a vote in Stark county to $1.42 in Lucas county. In comparison, during the four years 1924 through 1929, the average expenditure per vote was 81 cents in Detroit, 72 cents in St. Louis, 61 cents in Milwaukee, 56 cents in Minneapolis, and 42 cents in Omaha.

Look at these VALUES then ask yourself:
Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?

Wouldn't it be a thrill to start out on that Labor Day drive with a new set of handsome, safe, trouble-free Goodyears on your wheels?

Wouldn't it be a comfort to know you are going into the fall and winter motoring season with the best tire equipment on your car that money can buy?

Of course it would! Why don't you do it? You can afford it—with prices as low as these listed here, mileage is selling cheaper now than ever before.

When you buy Goodyears—whether the famous All-Weather Tread or the popular sturdy Pathfinder—you're buying the first-choice tires of the world.

If you have any doubt about this, just remember that for 16 years it has been a fact that "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Again, a great and unbiased public institution recently completed a nation-wide survey, asking American car owners "What tire is best?"

The vote, uninfluenced in any way, shows a preference for Goodyears nearly 74 times that for the second tire, and five times the average preference for all other makes.

It takes a great tire—an outstanding tire—to win public approval in this decisive fashion; it takes the kind of a tire you would like to own.

You can have that tire, at no extra price, if you'll guide your buying with the simple question: "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

ROTTERDAM ON FULDA, Germany—A young heckler at a public meeting has had a painful reminder that the "withered hand" of Philip Schiedemann is purely a figure of speech. Schiedemann opposed signing of the treaty of Versailles, exclaiming in the Reichstag, "Withered be the hand that signs this treaty."

The heckler wanted to see the "withered hand." His answer was a smart box on the ear.

BUTLER, Pa. — Perhaps soft wood won't hurt so much. Anyway the school board has issued specifications for paddles to be used on the school kids. The paddles must be made of soft pine and not more than one-quarter inch thick. A regulation paddle was ordered after a teacher was hailed to court for using a heavy one.

NEW YORK—Facial appeal makes Joseph Dietrich, 31, the champion boxer. He was tied with George Rowland, 24, for winning ability, dexterity in making rescues and recuperation. Then the boys, both college students, went lined up for the crucial test and Dietrich won, five points to four. The jury? Twelve girls.

NEWARK — The case of Dishpan vs. Radio has been decided in favor of the Dishpan. Patrick J. Casfield was summoned to court for beating a pan under the window of his neighbor, Emil Zeil. The defendant came in armed with a petition signed by 17 other neighbors declaring Zeil's loud speaker annoyed them too. "I know what a loud radio is like," said Judge John C. Howe. "There is one near my house. Case dismissed."

What's so surprising about the fact that the mercury went up to ninety-six in Los Angeles Tuesday? Why it on rare occasions goes that high even here in the very heart of the garden spot of the world where the summer weather is admittedly ideal.

From the grating given Colonel and Mrs. Lindberg in Tokyo, it's hardly probable that they will be made to suffer for coming down in a prescribed area as a result of engine trouble when they hadn't any other place to which they were able to go.

The National Federation of Postoffice Clerks is expected to oppose the proposal for higher mail rates on the ground that the higher first-class rates would decrease the volume of mail and result in further unemployment for thousands of substitute clerks and carriers. It hardly matters what move is made by the post-office department to make receipts get into line with expenditures, some element bobs up with an objection.

Promising the bookmakers up in Chicago that he would help secure the release of the member of their fraternity held for $250,000 ransom, Al Capone asserted "I am against the kidnapping racket and always have been. It's the lowest form of crime." Besides, what's the use when there are so many rackets which are surer and safer?

The threatened "peaceful revolt" in Ecuador, a Quito cable states, was brought under control when President Ibarra Ayora tendered his resignation to congress and it was accepted. At this distance it doesn't look as though it wouldn't be much of a job to bring under control a "peaceful revolt" which was only threatened.

Having been held up twice within two months, the First State bank of Fox River Grove, Illinois, has adopted the "speakeasy" plan of sizing up customers through a peephole before admitting them. If the one seeking admission is known, he is admitted at once, if not known, he must identify himself and state his business before being admitted. If the hold-up gains keeps on growing as it has during the last year or two, it might not be a bad scheme were the Fox River Grove plan generally adopted.

Threats of Death.

Threats have been made against the lives of John S. Young, of New York City, and five other employees of the National Broadcasting company. As the threats were made by different persons, it is easier to believe the makers of them to have been gangsters rather than cranks, it being highly improbable that two or more cranks would be moved the same way on the same subject at the same time.

The day following the New York City gangster rally in Madison Square garden, Mr. Young whose reputation as one of the foremost radio announcers of the United States extends far beyond our national boundaries, was called to the phone.

"You're a wise guy," came a voice sounding like that of a young man. "Your life might be worth only two cents to you, but it's worth thousands to N. B. C. Well-teach you wise guys to keep out of these gangster affairs."

Mr. Young hung up the phone believing that the message came from some friend attempting to work a joke, a belief which he probably would have retained had he not again been called to the phone, a few minutes later, to hear a similar message with a few embellishments come over the line in a different voice. The other five employees received telephone messages of the same tenor, the only difference being in phrasing.

Announcer Young has been granted a license to carry a pistol, and two policemen are guarding him enroute to and from the broadcasting station, but a little cooperation on the part of the New York telephone people in listening in on every call put in for him might prove far more productive.

This newspaper is not committed either to the championing or the guarding of radio in terrore, but it is interested, and deeply too, in the protection of human life, and wholeheartedly committed to the maintenance of law and order. It is hoped that those responsible for the threats against the radio people may be run down and punished to the limit of the law, and this hope extends to any who may make threats of death or bodily or property injury against any person or persons following any lawful business or profession.

Ramsey MacDonald, Patriot.
When history writes its list of patriots, the name of Ramsey MacDonald will be well toward the front. The mild-mannered, soft-spoken Scotshman has offered himself from politics by tripping his party's policies in forming the tri-party cabinet which now seeks to move Great Britain from economic catastrophe.

MacDonald, who rose from obscurity to become political head of a kingdom, went into the prime minister's office as head of the Laborite party which won sweeping victories in the election of 1929.

The Labor party is staunchly against any reduction in the debt by which more than 2,000,000 unemployed Englishmen draw subsistence in part from the national treasury, and it is just as firmly committed to England's traditional policy of free trade.

The new cabinet in which are four Laborites, four Conservatives and two Liberals, will reduce the debt to cut expenditures and will enact a tariff to increase revenue. Both of these steps are directly contrary to the views of the premier's former party. Under such circumstances, his attitude assures his political retirement at the end of his present service.

The party did not act for the natural consequences of such an act but promptly adopted a resolution banishing the premier from membership for "disloyalty to the Labor party and his open flouting of party discipline in joining the anti-socialistic government."

This followed shortly upon the heels of a statement by MacDonald that the situation "makes temporary retrenchment inevitable and imposes some amount of common sacrifice." His own sacrifice is his political head.

Love of country must be strong in the heart of a man who will thus lay down his political career for her good. Such a man is Ramsey MacDonald, and the affection in which America holds him will be greater because of the high example he has set for all men in places of public responsibility.

The Drive of Guilty Conscience.

There is no greater solace than that of a clean conscience, no greater punishment than that of a guilty one.

Driven by conscience, William L. Cherry, thirty-six, voluntarily surrendered to the police in Cincinnati, Wednesday, requesting that he be returned to Knoxville, Tennessee, to serve out a sentence pronounced on him fourteen years ago, stating his surrender gave him the "first peace he had known since 1917."

Sentenced to the Tennessee state prison to serve a term of from three to fifteen years for passing worthless checks, he escaped forty-one days after his commitment and for fourteen years has been more or less of a wanderer, his conscience at all times causing him to invite identification as a fugitive from justice. He entered in the army in 1918 in Topeka, Kansas. It was his belief that his finger prints would lead to his return to prison, a belief in which he was mistaken. Instead he was sent to France and served seven months in the trenches, receiving twenty-two wounds, as shown by the scars on his body, and being decorated for bravery. Returning to this country, he wandered to San Francisco, where he secured a place on the police force and served eight months until his conscience forced him to resign. He again invited identification by seeking employment as a guard in San Quentin prison. Instead he was accepted, and served until he lost out as the result of a change of administration. Finally the guilty conscience which so often had caused him to invite discovery, forced him Wednesday to surrender as a fugitive.

It's the old, old story. The guilty may escape apprehension, or they may be apprehended, committed to prison and escape. They may escape the officers and the agents of the law, but they never escape their consciences. Conscience never quits the trail of the criminal. It may not exert its force for a time, but sooner or later it overtakes the criminal and thereafter is his inseparable companion, an "Old Man of the Sea" he is utterly unable to throw off.

Word from Lisbon is to the effect that "the revolt" has been suppressed, which leaves one up in the air to decide whether it was the same old revolt or a new one.

They Were in Error.

The dry officials and agents, who may have assumed that Prohibition Director Woodcock was merely talking for publication when he said recently that women or girls should not be employed as informers or blimps in prohibition enforcement should realize their error in the light of his general order, issued Wednesday, forbidding a practice which has "brought discredit to the bureau and trouble to individual agents in the past."

This general order, closely following the arrest for intoxication of a young girl in Buffalo and charges by an Illinois congressman that lewd women were employed by agents in the Eastern district of that state, reads in part: "The use of any federal funds to pay women for services in the purchase of liquor directly or indirectly, is forbidden."

"No federal funds will be used, directly or indirectly, to purchase liquor for women."

"Agents when seeking to purchase liquor for use as evidence will not be accompanied by women."

An interesting sidelight on the handicaps suffered in the attempt of the director to enforce prohibition was the acknowledgment by him, at the same time he issued his order, of a letter from the Business and Professional Women's council of Maryland, protesting against his former order against the use of women as decoys, blimps or informers, designating it "sex discrimination."

APPEL-SAUCE, WELL FLAVORED

The summer vacation season is near its close, but much of the vacation advice offered by Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health of Pennsylvania, is applicable also to everyday conditions. He says that moderation is more a term than actually these days. The majority of persons run in high gear, fast and furious at work and equally so at play. "It is no wonder," Dr. Appel says, "that people crack prematurely." He adds: "Whatever the virtues of the machine may be, and they are many, the habit of excessive pace in all departments of life that has directly resulted in, to say the least, unfortunate. One has but to note the rush here and there, either by gasoline or legs the chugging down of food at restaurants, the loss of sleep and the excesses of all kinds that compose too much of the average person's day, to realize that an overhasty pace has the best of most of us."

"The idea of rest and relaxation which in the years gone by was so inherently associated with the vacation period has all but passed out of existence. Thoroughly exhausted by the winter work and pleasure, the vast majority of persons look upon the vacation season as a time for further excesses. To come home with a back full of blisters, a stomach disordered by ill chosen and excessive quantities of food and a body completely overfatigued, seems to be the deliberate object of thousands of persons, judging by their performance."

"The honest fact is that modern life makes tremendous demands upon one's vitality, and that if there ever was a time when bodies need the reconditioning that rest and relaxation can give, it is now."

There is good sense and the ring of rightness in this professional advice. Some of the practical suggestions may be useful immediately. If not, clip this and paste it in your old straw hat for ready reference early next summer.—Toledo Blade.

STRANGE CASE OF THE BRAZIL LINE

Possibly the shipping board has some good reason for ordering the suspension of the American Brazil line, but it does not appear on the surface. This action leaves the field clear to foreign flag ships, a contingency which should be avoided save under the strong pressure of necessity—a condition which American shippers, at least, do not recognize. The line is one of the few that has not involved the government in heavy losses during its operation. In view of the present depression in the business, a deficit of $500 in four months is considerably small. Is it in any case sufficient to justify the withdrawal of the fleet and the consequent loss of work for 125 men?

The general manager of the Colombian line, which has been acting as agent for the Brazil line, and which has purchased from the board ten ships for its own service, says that his company was rapidly working toward a point where it would have been possible to take under its private operation the Brazil service, as such as conditions improved. In these circumstances the shipping board might well have stood and said: "A little longer, rather than withdraw the American flag from the Brazilian trade. This appears to be short-sighted economy. It is certainly a reversal of their broadly published plan of aiding and developing American shipping."

But the protests both of the agents and the shippers have been futile. Heavier losses have been met without such radical action. Even the shipping board will not contend that our trade with Brazil is negligible.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

That Time Should Be Heeded.

A writer of advice to girls tells the young woman of today she must get a straighthead on a man's heart, imagination or conscience. But not, it is unnecessary to add while he is at the wheel of a motor car.—Hamilton Spectator.

What Will Better Marion?

The following is the answer of one citizen to the question, "What Will Better Marion?"—the second in the questionnaire circulated by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer to get a comprehensive insight into the community feeling regarding our home city in the hope of arriving at a remedy for handicaps if any, from which Marion may suffer. From day to day, answers of various citizens to the same question will be given publicly on this page.

I do not believe that the appointment of committees or the elaborate reports of committees alone will dissipate depression, but when we stop feeling sorry for ourselves and our city, ban the god of selfishness, consider the other fellow and his opinion, and adopt a get-together, shoulder-to-shoulder cooperative policy then I believe business will get better, and Marion will become prosperous just as soon as general business conditions shall permit.

I am also of the opinion that when our present industries get back to normal, or are working to full capacity, Marion will not only reach the standard she desires, but will be in a position to attract other desirable industries without a financial base.

Health Gauge for Baby.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Whenever possible the infant should be breast fed. But it is important to recognize this plan of feeding if it does not serve its purpose. Sometimes babies do not thrive on mother's milk.

It may be necessary to take the baby from the breast and give artificial feeding. Frequently there is lack of milk in the breast.

Increase in weight is the most accurate method of determining if baby is getting sufficient nourishment. If not, the infant will lose weight. Continued loss of weight is serious and requires immediate attention.

The infant should be weighed twice a week. This procedure should be continued until it reaches one year of age, and then it may be weighed once every month.

After the first week no child should ever lose weight, or remain stationary. During the first year a healthy baby should double its weight in six months and nearly triple it in twelve months.

It is not important that the gain in weight be rapid, but it should be gradual and steady. During the first six months there should be a weekly gain of five to six ounces. If the gain is not steady there is something wrong. This may be due either to the food or to the method of feeding.

I believe too many mothers overlook the importance of having a scale at home. Infants should be weighed on definite days and an accurate record kept of the weight.

Where such records are kept children receive accurate attention. Since this is a simple method of determining the child's welfare, it should be practiced by all. I believe the purchase of an infant's scale is a wise and just investment.

If satisfactory progress is not observed, talk with the family doctor. There may be the need of a change in the bottle mixture.

Babies are delicate things and respond quickly both to good influences and evil ones. Steady increase in weight is a good sign.

ANSWERS TO HEALTHY QUESTIONS

Q.—What causes a pain on the left side not far from the center of the stomach?

A.—These symptoms are probably due to hyperacidity. Watch your diet and be sure to keep the bowels open and the system clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Q.—Is cod liver oil just as beneficial in the case of adults as it is in the case of children?

A.—How can I clear up a bronchial cough?

Q.—What causes weak spells?

A.—Yes, it acts as a general tonic and builder for either an adult or a child.

Q.—Improve your general health and you will be less susceptible to the germs of colds and coughs. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Q.—Weak spells may be due to a number of different conditions. See your doctor for examination and definite advice.

Q.—What do you advise for constipation—the bowels move very irregularly, accompanied by pain in the back?

Q.—Would this condition account for the fact that I have a coated tongue and sour mouth as well as slight muscular pains throughout the body?

A.—Proper attention to the diet as well as regular exercise should help to correct these symptoms. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Q.—These are all indicative of sluggish elimination. Clear up the constipation and you will notice improvement.

Q.—What foods are rich in elements which go to make rich blood and increase the blood supply?

Q.—What do you advise for chronic constipation?

A.—Fresh, green vegetables, milk, eggs, beef juice. After will all tend to bring about the desired results. These foods should be included in the diet.

Q.—For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Q.—What is the difference between leukopenemia and pernicious anemia? Is either condition curable? Is the spleen apt to be affected?

A.—The former is a condition where there is a permanent increase in the number of the white corpuscles and in pernicious anemia there is a diminution in the number of the red corpuscles. There is no specific cure but proper diet and general care should bring about increased Q.—What and relief. Yes. The doctor attending the individual patient should be the one to prescribe the necessary treatment.—Copyright, 1931, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Bunsen's Discoveries.

BY ARCHEALD HENDERSON.
Robert Wilhelm von Bunsen is one of the great modern developers of chemistry. Like Faraday, he believed in studying nature herself and making as many practical discoveries as possible. He did not clutter up his mind with elaborate theories, preferring to rely solely upon the chemical discoveries which he observed and made. His work on which he was so accurate in its range, that it remains to this day a standard work.

Bunsen was born at Göttingen, Germany, on March 21, 1811. He was educated at his birthplace and also in Paris. In turn he held professional positions at Cassel, Marburg and Breslau. In 1832 he was appointed to the chair of chemistry at Heidelberg where he remained until his retirement in 1860.

In 1829 Bunsen was an indefatigable worker in one piece of investigation that of the study of arsenic, he paid a heavy penalty. He was nearly killed by arsenical poisoning, and lost the sight of one eye as the result of an explosion. But the outcome of his six years' study of arsenic was fame as a chemist, which steadily increased through life. His study of gases attracted wide attention, as a striking application of the principles of chemical research to an important industrial problem. In comparing German and English blast furnaces, he showed that in the former almost half the heat went up the chimney, in the latter about 80 per cent of the heat units passed up with the waste fumes.

In 1855, a new laboratory was built at Heidelberg and in the course of his researches, Bunsen felt the need of something better than the ordinary blowpipe for supplying heat used in chemical operations. He devised a burner using ordinary gas which produced a hot, smokeless flame, the basic principle of producing a high-temperature, almost invisible flame is now in universal use where people cook with gas.

Bunsen also invented the carbon-zinc electric battery, now generally known by his name. By using it to produce an electric arc, he was able to obtain out of a pound of zinc a light of approximately 1,200 candle-power. He also invented an instrument for measuring the amount of light so obtained, the grease-spot photometer, which is still in general use.

Bunsen's supreme achievement, however, was the development of the methods of spectrum analysis. Fraunhofer had already attracted wide attention by the discovery of the dark absorption lines in the solar spectrum, named for him Bunsen and Kirchhoff, as joint investigators, discovered cesium, rubidium, and other metals. It was Bunsen who discovered the significance of many findings in spectroscopy. By the extension of his methods, scientists have learned much about the composition of the sun, the stars, and other celestial bodies.

Bunsen died at Heidelberg on August 18, 1898. Copyright, 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

An Old School Test.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Old school tests have come to have value as antiques. They have their appeal, however, almost exclusively to the older people who used them in their youth and to whom they bring back pleasant recollections. T. B. Bowers, of Columbus, paid fifty cents recently for a copy of S. Augustus Mitchell's "System of Modern Geography," a book which was published in 1864. On a fly leaf is the name of John Dwyer, who was probably the pupil who used the book in school.

The copy is of the fourth edition, printed by Cowperthwaite, Desilver and Butler at Philadelphia in 1864. It is stamped to show that it was bought from the store of Williams and Hanford, book dealers, Springfield, Ohio, and bears the imprint of the business store of M. H. Dwyer, "dealer in medicines, pumps, stoves, jewelry, etc.," at Vienna, Ohio, Ohio. On a fly leaf is the name of John Dwyer, who was probably the pupil who used the book in school.

There are few maps all necessarily small, for the book is only five by six inches, with 328 pages—and none of the maps is in color. There is a wealth of illustration by wood-cuts and many of them are fine examples of the best in that old art. The book being well preserved, these can be appreciated. Some of these illustrations the writer will remember to have seen probably in other text books, for he never had this one. One of these is entitled "Penn's Treaty with the Indians at Philadelphia," another "Napoleon's Retreat from Moscow," others "Laplanders Traveling," "A Norwegian Killing a Bear," and "A Bushman Hunting Disguised as an Ostrich."

Samuel Augustus Mitchell was born in Bristol, Connecticut, in 1822, and lived to 1899. He went to Philadelphia as a young man, and lived there the rest of his life. The encyclopedia still carries his name as a geographer and the writer of the "System of Modern Geography." His text books having a very large sale about the middle of the last century, he began life as a teacher but for forty years he lived in Philadelphia writing, revising and publishing his books, twenty-four in all, his sales reaching the best seller figures of the day—400,000 copies a year.

New York Day by Day.

BY G. G. MINTYRE.
New York, Aug. 27.—The elder J. P. Morgan was once credited as saying any man who could offer fairly convincing proof that he was worth a million dollars to a reputable firm would have no trouble in collecting from reliable sources 100,000 of an incident. This traiting the point.

The story concerns an advertising agency that made an extremely tempting offer to select advertising manager of a New York department store. He was out of college only a few years, but had shown surprising results. The store's president, hearing of the offer, sent for the young man.

"He inquired, 'What is your financial goal?' The reply was 'One million dollars. Scarcely betting an eye, the president said 'We will give it to you. In view of the unusual circumstances, the advertising agency, although the contract was signed, released him.

Older and wiser heads in big business are declaring that at the moment, more than in any other period of industrial history, young men face golden opportunities. Charles L. Schwab jumped from $50,000 to $250,000 salary in one year. It was indeed a conspicuous achievement.

Yet even in the depression there were ringing reports of the door. A chain store organization was dumping dignity in respect to its minimum employees in the counting department. A letter to the chairman of the board which interested him and fellow directors.

The young man asked no salary to get through his idea. He sought instead one-half of one per cent of the net profits the first year and after that a salary of $100,000 annually. He made $47,000 the first year and was voluntarily given $100,000.

Those who know say business in stagnation is turning a bright light on the young man. Where gray heads sit at executive desks their hair can brown. A great banker recently said "When we ride out of this present chaos youth will be in the saddle."

The movies have been far "out in front" in shouldering youth with responsibility. Two of the biggest executives, Ben P. Schuyler and Irving Thalberg, are former New York office boys and still in their thirties.

I worked on a Middle West newspaper when the managing editor at twenty-one was the oldest executive. Reporters were college caps and peg top trousers and the sporting editor had to place a box on his chair to reach the typewriter. The copy boy was Paul Dunbar, who later gained fame as a Negro poet. It would be pleasant to report amazing success, but the truth is our journalistic efforts were pretty much a mess. The climax came when the opposition paper scooped us on the mysterious murder of the janitor in our own building.

Incidentally, a spin of life's wheel pocketed one of that old stiff in the entrance of a Coney Island concession where with a megaphone and a pair of leather lungs he barked to passersby of wonders within. Spotting me among the throngs along Surf Avenue one afternoon he boomed "How's this for local boy making good in the big city?"

Driving through the Bowery these late evening hours offers a depressing spectacle. Waiting for the rescue missions to open for the cup of coffee and back room flop the derelicts huddle together like sheep in a storm. What heightens the melancholy is the utter silence. One may watch them for a half hour—as I did—and not a lip moved. They seem completely stunned.

The Bowery sidewalk seems the best stand of the organ grinder and "da monk." The grand old saw has reached a seductive sedition, achieved and his wheezy organ struck only as occasional, meaningless note. Even the motest monkey turned away somersaults with despairing hopelessness.

George Jessell, Lou Holt and Frisco smoke especially made Grat-Zepplin sixty cigars at least I have always believed they were cigars until I sat to the windward of one of the trio in a cafe last evening. Even today, talking alone, I find myself standing under a star and awning.—Copyright, 1931, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Aug. 27.—When Louisiana's portly and senior senator, Broussard, leveled his guns at his one-time ally, Huey P. Long, political observers in Washington immediately asked, "Why?"

There was no outspoken opposition on the part of Broussard when Governor and Senator-Elect Long was campaigning to oust the veteran of thirty-two years congressional service—Joseph R. Broussard.

Now he comes along with the charge that Long is violating the law by holding on to the job as governor when he has been elected to the senate.

Rumor in the capital has it that a suit is being prepared for filing in the Louisiana courts in an effort to determine if Long's within his rights in holding both posts.

But what is the reason for Broussard's attitude? Opinions vary.

For one thing, the Louisiana senator may stand for reelection next year. He may have a long man to oppose him. And the name of Broussard is a name to be feared. A number of the house to succeed the late James S. A. well, is heard in the group.

Politically Overton and Long are close. It was Overton who defended the governor against impeachment charges in the Louisiana legislature.

And it was Long who got out of his last wagon—a combination of a radio loud speaker and a caligone—and boomed from one town to another in Overton's behalf during the congressional campaign.

Long campaigned for Overton in the Eight district so intensively as if he himself was seeking the office.

With Overton, some other Long man or his colleagues in the senate, Governor and Senator-Elect "Huey" would occupy a strange position. He could, if he so desired, be within and without Louisiana.

Federal patronage—at least a large part of it—would be added to his control of state patronage.

Louisiana's senators have been found only rarely in the Republican column in such recent years as the tariff. Both Broussard and Handcock have steadily used this way.

As for whether Long is violating the law by holding on to his job as governor after presenting his credentials as senator-elect, apparently it is a question that the state court alone must decide. It is not the first time such a thing has been done.

The late "Old Bob" La Follette remained away from the senate for almost a year after he was elected, because he preferred to stay on as governor of Wisconsin.

Dinner Stories.

"Do you fear for the future of our country?"

"Of course," replied Senator Borah. "My country has always to face the chance of its leading in the minority or even being reduced to private life."

Clark—"Can I trouble you for five dollars old man?"

Cloak—"My dear chap, for five dollars let me trouble me for the rest of the evening."
